Bloomfield Hills, MI 48304-2266

Dear Dr. Lamb:

As you undoubtedly know by now, I have spoken to your personnel department, and they have declined to further investigate you.

They have, however, inadvertently confirmed for me that you are the person who hides behind the false name "Pinku-Sensei" and that you were well aware of your participation in various publications over the past year which clearly libeled me. Specifically, a thread was maintained with my full name in the header and various publications were made with attacks on my character, my professional qualifications, and so on. At least one of those participating appears to have clearly been you.

I am writing to give you a chance to avoid being named in a lawsuit I have prepared and am readying for filing. I see you have decided to stop engaging in your libelous behavior online, but it does not correct the publications which have already been made.

In order to forestall further action by me, I will need you to do two things:

- 1) Publish a formal and unequivocal apology in all the affected newsgroups and
- 2) Provide me with all identifying data on the various posters who participated in the thread, including copies of all offline communications with them, including headers where e-mails were exchanged. This information must lead to useful identifications or this offer is unavailable.

I am engaged in the practice of law here in the State of New Jersey, as well as federally, and the reputation I maintain in my business is of paramount importance to me. By intentionally referring to me by name in the context of threads aimed at impugning the character of the poster, you and your "friends" crossed the line into unlawful behavior, and I will spare no effort in pursuing this legally. If you think this is a "kook suit" you are sadly mistaken, and if you mention that term in any public forum in connection with myself, I assure you I will seek to amend and add to the complaint.

You have two weeks from the date of this letter to respond. After that, all further communications will be by way of summons, complaint, and subpoena.

Charles Novins, Esq.

Yes, I've locatedPinku, but only at work, where I had notified his employers, and was getting ready to have him served with process. So his home addy might be useful if he tries to thwart that.

I haven't named Deco in the suit because he never - to my knowledge - went RL on me, which is my criteria for fair play vs. "over the line." If

I see him use my RL business name once, that will do the trick.

One way around that would be if you want to be a plaintiff, and Artie has crossed the line in your case. Your call, of course, since everything has to be public in a lawsuit

If any other so-called "Kooks" are reading this - even if they actually are kooky - they can join the suit depending on whether one ofPinku's fuck-buddies went over the line. It's a common myth that truth is a defense to libel.

My e-mail is easy to un-munge - remove byspam - and everything else about me

Pinku, leave my handle out of your posts, and don't mention me ever in your ridiculous "awards."

So far, by ignoring me completely, you've displayed a smattering of brains unlike other AUKtards.

If I see my handle in any post made by you, there will be consequences, as there will for even this one.

Back on my radar. No upside in that for you.

Dear Dr. Lamb:

I see that you are still in the business of libel and slander in your spare time, and in your recent post, you again made reference to my "handle," behavior which I'd hoped you'd outgrown. Evidently, my hopes were dashed. This would be your post of January 24, 2009, at approximately 2:00am, to the group <alt.usenet.kooks>, <alt.fan.art-bell>, <alt.free.news.servers>, <alt.war.Vietnam>, <misc.survivalism> and <rec.arts.poems>

Take note of the following NJ statute:

2A:43-2. Damages recoverable. The defendant, in an action for libel against the owner, manager, editor, publisher or reporter of any newspaper, magazine, periodical, serial or other publication in this state, may give proof of intention; and plaintiff, unless he shall prove either malice in fact or that defendant, after having been requested by plaintiff in writing to retract the libelous charge in as public a manner as that in which it was made, failed to do so within a reasonable time, shall recover only his actual damage proved and specially alleged in the complaint.

As I noted previously, your employers inadvertently confirmed for me that you are the person who hides behind the false name "Pinku-Sensei" and that you were well aware of your participation in various publications which clearly libeled me. Moreover, there can be no question as a matter of fact that you are aware of my "handle," which has never changed over many years. So when you use it, you are intentionally addressing me.

You might also like to be advised that New Jersey confers jurisdiction on out-of-state libelers. That is the law as of a 2007 upper-court decision. I'd be happy to cite the decision for you, but I think it is getting to the point where you ought to retain a lawyer.

However, to give you an opportunity to reduce potential liability, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2A:43-2, above, I am herewith demanding that you retract all of your libelous comments "in as public a manner as that in which it was made," which means that you need to apologize and retract in both the Usenet group <alt.usenet.kooks> as well as every other cross-posted group in which any of your ill-considered and

RE: Complaint regarding a member of your faculty, Richard V. Lamb

NUMBER OF PAGES, INCLUDING THIS ONE: 1

MESSAGE:

As you know, I communicated with you last year concerning Dr. Lamb's libelous online behavior regarding my firm.

Dr. Lamb never made any attempt to repair damages, apologize, or otherwise make the situation right. Nor did he make any effort to contact me at all, and ignored my overtures to him.

Therefore, I have filed suit in the Superior Court of New Jersey, Law Division, Ocean County regarding this matter.

I am contacting you because I have included sued Dr. Lamb, as well as the college, for damages incurred. I still have reasons to believe the libelous postings were, at minimum, during his workday for the college and I also believe posts originated from college facilities. I also fault your failure to properly supervise Dr. Lamb,

In any event, all I am seeking now is the address upon which you would like me to effect service. I presume the college has a legal department. Moreover, I have no home address for Dr. Lamb. I ask that you either accept service on his behalf, or release to me his home address for service.

Most importantly, I require the address the college requires to accept legal process.

Naturally, I will accept any overtures from you to discuss the case, but prior experience with you has yielded mostly silence, and I have no reason to expect that to change. Therefore, we shall simply go through formal process.

I foreclose nothing however, and I continue to invite discussion. Please feel free to contact my office at once if you have any questions in this matter.

Charles Novins, Esq.

damaging comments appeared.

Previously, I asked you to do two things that might cause me to forestall actions against you. That list has increased since then, due to the vastly worse behavior of many of your cohorts.

As before, and as demanded above,

- 1) Publish a formal and unequivocal apology in all the affected newsgroups.
- 2) Provide me with all identifying data on the various posters who participated in the thread, including copies of all offline communications with them, including headers where e-mails were exchanged. This information must lead to useful identifications or this offer is unavailable.
- 3) You will stop libeling any and all posters, except in matters where AUK's original purpose is clearly met, such as challenging "Flat-Earthers," "Holocaust Deniers," and similar such speakers who really enjoy no protection from the lawful parodying of their ideas (thus not being "libel" in any event.) Posters such as "Gregory Hall" must be excluded, as I thought I had been, from your intentional efforts to ridicule and damage the reputation of others, and to inflict emotional distress upon them.

I am engaged in the practice of law here in the State of New Jersey, as well as federally, and the reputation I maintain in my business is of paramount importance to me. By intentionally referring to me by name or a transparent "handle" in the context of threads aimed at impugning the character of the poster, you and your "friends" crossed the line into unlawful behavior, and I will spare no effort in pursuing this legally. If you think this is a "kook suit" you are sadly mistaken, and, again, if you mention that term in any public forum in connection with myself, I assure you I will seek to amend and add to the complaint. Moreover, I considered carefully whether or not to cc this letter to your employer, as well as to your local newspaper. I decided not, but I've grown weary of your continued lawlessness, and this is the last communication we will have that is non-public. Either you, or your retained counsel, needs to respond privately and immediately, or this will be the final non-public communication.

The cost-effectiveness of the lawsuit was previously a deterrent to me, but with New Jersey's new expanded jurisdiction, that's no longer the case. So once again, I will need a response meeting the above conditions by Friday, February 6, 2009. You are welcome, also, to call me at my law firm, or e-mail me to discuss this; I am an eminently reasonable individual, and I welcome negotiation. But after 2/6/09, all further communications will be by way of summons, complaint, and subpoena.

Dear Dr. Lamb:

I am an attorney in private practice in the State of New Jersey.

I would like to speak to you regarding a legal matter which has arisen and with which I believe you are involved.

As you are probably aware, the matter in question involves an internet identity known as "I" though I have reason to believe you've been posting under other aliases as well.

I would greatly appreciate it if you would call my office so we can discuss the issue briefly. Either way, I strongly suggest you obtain legal counsel.

If you feel more comfortable calling me from a pay-phone, or other device that keeps your phone number confidential, that's fine. Either way, I will maintain the confidentiality of your phone number. Or, retain counsel and have him or her contact me. I have filed against your employer, as well, for reasons I set out in a communication to Mr. Casey.

Afternoons tend to be better, since I am in my office more than mornings, when I am often in court. If you so desire, you may speak with my staff to either leave a message, a call-back number, or you may arrange a "tele-appointment," a time when I will arrange to be in the office to take your call, or that of your counsel.

The reason for this communication is that I have named you in a lawsuit, and I would like to discuss the matter before further time and expense has been invoked, and to possibly work the matter out without having to engage in discovery and other further proceedings.

Thank you for your anticipated cooperation in this matter.

Hi, Pinky.

There's been a lot of speculation here about whether someone among your group is kind-of...ratting you all out.

This would be a bad thing.

I was talking with my friend Laurie the other day. She says that the mere exposure of AUKer's public information would be disasterous, since they have so many people that hate them.

So if someone was actually to post all the AUKers' personal data, it would be like putting the various participants on a dart-board, speaking metaphorically, of course.

I don't actually believe anyone among AUK would actually give up information like that, especially knowing that there is a line of victims just drooling to see you tossed into the lake.

Still, since way back in the beginning of September, I've been getting "supposedly reliable" info about various AUKers. But I don't believe any of it.

I seriously do think you ought to call me and discuss this.

Call me at the 236 number we exchanged last time I mailed you, or you could try me at the 552 number.

Either way, I'm still unhappy about the thing last year, and we should talk about the pending lawsuit.
